Grand Canyon

National Park/Arizona
National Park Service/U.S. Department of the Interior

I 29.2:

Facilities, Services, and Programs

Grand Canyon National Park is made up of the South Rim, which is open all year, and the North Rim, which is open from mid-May to mid-October. The Grand Canyon is approximately 215 miles long, from 4 to 18 miles wide, and a mile deep. The Colorado River is 277 miles long within the park. Elevations range from 1,200 feet at the river to 8,803 feet at Point Imperial on the North Rim.

Grand Canyon Village on the South Rim is a U.S. Forest Service community with overnight lodging, restaurants, and campgrounds.
